Social Activities Council Holds Christmas Jinx Next Friday; High School Debate Tourney On Here Today and Tomorrow

Santa Claus is coming to State a week from tonight! The occasion for this early visit of the jovial gentleman with the red suit and the whiskers on his chin is the Christmas Jinx dance, which will be held in the Women's gym December 12, from 9:30 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Besides offering State students the opportunity to get together and enjoy the yuletide spirit before vacation, the Jinx dance will carry Christmas cheer into the homes of the less fortunate by providing cans of food for needy Frederic Burk State students.

The admission price is only 5 cents and a can of food for student body card holders, and 25 cents and a can of food for persons not having student body cards.

There will be dancing to the sweet strains of Dick Bailey's orchestra, entertainment as provided by Music Federation, community singing of Christmas carols, and door prizes, in addition to Santa Claus.

Vi Nicoloff, student body vice-president and chairman of the Social Activities council, is acting as chairman of the affair. She will be assisted by the Music Federation; the Art Federation, which is in charge of decorations for the gym; Sigma Gamma Sigma, which will have charge of the doors; and volunteer workers from the freshman class.

Today at 1 o'clock the annual Pacific High School tournament sponsored by Delta Sigma, the honorary debating society of San Francisco State College, begins.

High schools from the far western states have been invited to attend. Preliminary registration shows that this year's tournament will probably be the biggest on record.

College Spirit Lauded By Yell-King Ivor Callaway

"State's rooting section ended football season with a fine display of spirit, in spite of the fact that the students were backing a losing team," Ivor Callaway, head yell-leader, stated today.

"Rooters' caps and pom-poms were purchased by a big majority of the students, and this equipment will be worn at the basketball games to carry on the backing of Gater athletic teams," Callaway said.

The varsity basketball team, one of the finest squads on the coast, has already begun practice and will engage in the first intercollegiate game in several weeks. Ivor and Norman Crane, Rally Commissioner, plan to have several get-togethers before the season is under full sway.

The next definite rally to be held is the awards rally at which all men winning blocks or circles this semester will be honored. Sports occurring this term were football, soccer, jayvee sports, and intramural activities.

Dean Cox Reveals Numerous Students Earn College Keep

"Oh, yes, there are many opportunities for jobs on the N.Y.A., the neediness of the individual and the funds available being the principal criteria by which we judge," stated Dean Cox, head of the men's side of the National Youth Administration at State.

"It is interesting to note," said Dean Cox, "that 69 per cent of the men at State are helping to defray their expenses by some kind of employment or other, many positions having been obtained through efforts of various college officials."

The prime purpose of the N.Y.A. is to help finance needy students in the acquisition of their education, all of whom earn 40 cents an hour, making anywhere from $10 to $15 per month, which depends, of course, upon their need and the hours they work.

Work by the collegians is usually around the college, acting as laboratory and library assistants.

Student Control Aims Announced By Judiciary

Realizing that something must be done to control student infractions against the college, the Judicial Committee today clarified the work which it hopes to do.

The committee has placed student infractions under two general headings:

- 1) Infractions against the Constitution or the Associated Students. The example was cited of lending out student body cards.
- 2) Infractions against the college as a whole. In such cases, the committee will not make a final decision but will make a recommendation to the faculty, which will make a final decision.

The committee consists of Ray Berns as chairman, Jack Lynch, Lillian Kaplan, Alan Kreusberger and George Kirker. Its job is mainly that of a corrective nature rather than a punitive one.

College Unity

It's a grand feeling, that of belonging; it's something we all want to achieve, regardless of who we are or what we intend to be. That feeling is the very thing you will encounter at San Francisco State College.

Our buildings and campus aren't the most attractive in the world, but, somehow, it isn't of prime importance, for it isn't the buildings that make the college; it's the students.

And the majority of the students belong. We are all part of something fine. We all know and revere it. We are the students of San Francisco State College.

State is our college and we are proud of it and deeply loyal. We wish everyone the good fortune of attending our college.

JEAN VAN ARSDALE,
 President, A.S.F.S.C.

STUDENT PREXY

GILLIO IN CHARGE

Frank Gillio, the most outstanding debater at State, is going to be manager of the entire program. Arnold Vezzani will be in charge of the extemporaneous division; Dr. Baxter M. Geeting of radio, because it is a new field added for the first time this year; Richard Date of oratory and Frank Gillio of debate.

Prizes will be awarded to individuals for the first three places in each division. The sweepstakes prize, highest total of points garnered by all the members of a high school team, has gone to Lowell for the past three years.

In all there will be $88 worth of prize cups. The money for these is obtained from the entrance fee, which is $1 for a team, and 50 cents for an individual.

DELTA SIGMA SPONSOR

A capable sponsor is Delta Sigma for the Pacific High School debate tournament. Every year this organization is in the finals of the Pacific Forensic League. Last year, with Frank Gillio as mainstay, they won the KSFO Symposium award.

State's honorary debating society carries on a series of 18 debates with Bay Region colleges. This semester it went to Ogden, Utah, where it took third place in the Western Association Teachers of speech debate tournament.

"State gave one of the best performances of the past two years at Ogden," said Richard Date, president of the Forensic council.

Portland, Oregon, will be the scene of the debate tournament which Delta Sigma will attend next fall. This spring they are going to a tournament at Stockton, California.

FRESHMAN DEBATE

"Freshman Debate" is a radio program in which the freshmen of the Bay Region colleges get together and discuss pertinent problems of the day.

Dramatic Groups Have Full Activity Calendar; Teacher Training Courses Undergo Modification

The Children's Christmas Play Festival will be given in Frederic Burk auditorium from 1:30 to 3:30 Tuesday and Thursday, December 9-11. Seven classes from the training school will participate. The directors will be the Speech 345 class. There will be a small admission price to raise a fund for needy children and will be distributed by the P. T. A.

"Santa Comes Through," with Miss Androvich directing the low primary, will be produced Thursday. And "Golden Cobwebs," featuring low primary people, directed by Mont Eton, Mr. Enrigo directing low primary pupils in "Christmas Fairy," "Black Magic" with Mr. Galstman directing high primary children, and "Smickery Nick" with Miss Cammarozzi directing the high primary, will round out Thursday's show.

Another aspect of the dramatic offerings at State is the Italian Renaissance Festival, to be given here in February. This is on the same order of the Tudor Festival, given in November, 1940. Students may remember the musical

Beauteous Jinx Leaders

Seated, left to right, are Mary Gresham, Vi Nicoloff, student body vice president; Carleene Miller, and Betty Matthews, committee in charge of the annual Christmas Jinx, which will be given in the Women's Gym next Friday night. Ever popular with State citizenry, the Jinx, a program of entertainment and dancing, is aimed at providing needy students and families with Christmas food essentials.

Radio Guild Features Future Drama Show

"Sunset," an original radio play by George Ruge, will be made into a transcription this afternoon at 4:30 at the W.P.A. Studios, 660 Mission Street," according to Baxter M. Geeting, head of State's Radio Guild.

The program will be produced over Station KQW at 7:30 p.m. in place of the regularly scheduled "Quiz the Prof" program, one Tuesday evening during the Christmas holidays.

Geeting, and Ray Berns, president of the Radio Guild, are working at the present for a renewal of the college drama series presented this summer over KYA. Both have high hopes of State producing once again a weekly dramatic show which will be written, directed and produced by college students. "Sunset" is but a step in this direction.

NEW RECORD ESTABLISHED

"Young America Speaks," a program sponsored by the Radio Guild, broke the national collegiate forum program record, which was formerly held by the University of Wisconsin. The program was produced over KQW for 42 consecutive weeks.

A new program has been formed to take the place of "Young America Speaks" called "Quiz the Prof." It is produced over KQW Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. This is where the students put the professors on the spot.

The Radio Guild holds periodic auditions on the same basis as the big networks in which they discover the talents of students interested in radio.

In cooperation with Station KSFO, State's Radio Guild offers a practical study of problems involved in radio production and technique, including lectures by radio executives and technicians at KSFO.

MIRAPHONE USED

An outstanding feature of State's Radio department is the Miraphone, used in voice correction and testing of the quality and sound of a desired effect (montages, etc.). The Miraphone is a newly developed thing, and S. F. State is one of the few colleges in the United States possessing one.

Registration Facts Released

The number of men students enrolled in teacher training equalled 311, while the number of women students equalled 810, making a total of 1121. A few of the curriculum offered include training in kindergarten-primary, elementary, elementary and junior high, junior high, special credential in art, in music and physical education.

Enrollment by curricula in liberal arts include 252 men and 345 women. These make a total of 597 students. There are several courses which one may enter, such as nursing education, social service, pre-nursing, B.E. degrees and special post graduate fields.

Request Submitted To Sacramento

Answering a call released by the Public Works Reserve of the Federal Government, Dr. A. C. Roberts is submitting this week a request for a $4,000,000 appropriation for 17 buildings to be constructed on the new campus as soon as the present emergency ends.

Well-Known Legislators Support New Campus

Dear Mr. Roberts:
 I acknowledge receipt of your letter of November 10th and thank you very much for writing me. I will, of course, do what I can for San Francisco State College. Sincerely yours,
 HIRAM K. JOHNSON.

Dear Mr. Roberts:
 Thank you for your letter of November 10th. I am sympathetic to the objective therein and will be glad to cooperate in any way I can. Sincerely,
 SHERIDAN DOWNEY.

My Dear Mr. Roberts:
 I am in receipt of your letter of November 13th and you may be sure I will be glad to cooperate in every way I can to assist in the matter referred to whenever it comes before the House for consideration.
 Very Sincerely,
 RICHARD J. WELCH.

Dr. Alexander C. Roberts:
 Thank you for your letter of November 10th and I shall give this matter mentioned in your letter every consideration when it comes before the floor of the House.
 Cordially,
 TOM ROLPH.

The call for a listing of all necessary buildings was issued through Governor Culbert Olson recently, and was discussed by all State College heads at the recent presidents' meeting held in San Diego. All requests for buildings are to be sent to Sacramento this week.

Prompting the decision on the part of the government to begin organization for building construction was the realization that when the present emergency ends, many men now employed in defense industries will be seeking work. If many buildings projects are ready, the unemployed will be easily and quickly assimilated.

STRATEGIC SITUATION

"San Francisco State College is ideally situated in an area covering many defense projects. It will therefore be simple to transfer these men to work on our new campus when defense work has ceased," stated Dr. Roberts. "Also, the fact that all preliminary work has been practically completed will speak in favor of completing the campus as soon as possible."

The original $2,000,000 minimum set by the State Senate for the construction of the campus was withheld by Governor Olson along with his $10,000,000 building program because of the emergency. But now work may soon be resumed after the building requests have been submitted to the Department of Public Works through the Department of Education and there is a necessity to find employment for present defense workers.

WORK UNDER WAY

This P. W. R. appropriation will be in addition to the two original W. P. A. grants which are now in effect. The first W. P. A. project called for $382,000 in expenditures on completion of work on the campus grounds. Work is practically finished and includes grading and filling and the building of the storm sewer, playfields, nursery, water mains, field house, road extension, pumps, electric services and a track.

The second W. P. A. grant is for $381,217 and is designed to complete ground work such as bleachers, broadcasting booth, backstop, fences, curbs, irrigation system, outdoor theater, parking areas, all planting, and tennis, handball and basketball courts.

W. P. A. and State officials will meet with Dr. Roberts and Leo C. Nee, college comptroller, next Wednesday to plan the work which will go under the second project. Among the representatives will be Dr. J. A. Burkman, assistant State director of education; Mr. P. T. Paoge and Mr. W. K. Daniels, assistant State architects.

Sigma Alpha Eta Offers Student Scholarship

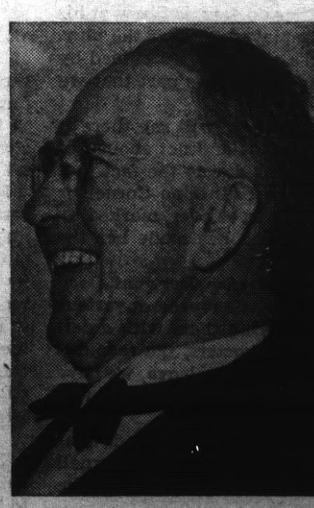

Sigma Alpha Eta, men's honorary society, is again going to sponsor two scholarships to be won by deserving students. A freshman scholarship has already been given with John A. Jones the winner.

To be eligible for the award one must have an upper division standing and a 1.5 grade average. The student must be engaged in at least one extra-curricular activity and must have an actual need.

The applicant's records are at first looked over by the Deans' Committee, which selects the men whom they think need the award most. Sigma Alpha Eta then votes upon one of the students selected by the Deans.

For the past four years one of the scholarships has been sponsored by the senior class which donates $15. Past winners have been: Bob Brown, Dick Perry, Dick Gordon and Alex Shelekov.

President A. C. Roberts

Go to College Now

This is the time to look ahead. Peace will follow the chaos of war. Men and women will work to restore and maintain an orderly world. Work hard skillful work, will be the lot of all of us in that day.

This is the time to stay in school. Part-time work, yes, if it is necessary. But, stay in school. Educated, trained men and women are lost to the nation when depressions cut down employment.

This is the time to go to college. Let older men and women have the full-time jobs—they need them more than you do. Answer your country's call for service when it comes. Stay in college now and prepare for the keen competition of the years that will follow the war.

If Anyone Should Wonder

We venture to say that this issue of the Golden Gater will be eyed by the student body with a "What Goes On Here?" expression on their faces.

Rather than allow them to wonder themselves into an early grave, we will confess that this is a publicity issue of the Gater, with the admitted intent of lauding the College to the general public, and particularly to the graduating seniors of California high schools.

At first we thought the proper approach to publicity would be best attained by borrowing from the rugged redskin of a post ear and employing guile and a fiendish cleverness. A sort of quick rush—the deed is done—a get-away under the cover of night, and publicity would be splattered all over the sovereign State of California before the unsuspecting citizenry could rally and beat us off.

Then the argument began, and when the smoke had cleared away, those advocates of the straight forward, look-em-in-the-eye-and-tell-the-truth style had won a clear cut victory.

Yes, this is publicity. Call it propaganda if you wish. Still when someone has something to sell, there is no stigma attached to a little legitimate advertising.

We believe that San Francisco State College should be heralded far and wide as the school to come to, because by personal experience we believe that there is no better school to attend. We can substantiate this statement by the testimony of dozens of others and for the two reasons, we think the publicity is justified.

The Golden Gater is the official organ of the student body, dedicated to principles of advancement of the College as a whole. We believe that by telling graduating high school seniors that they will benefit by coming to San Francisco State College, that we are adhering to those principles.

Therefore, it is with no apologies, but secretly with a little pride that the Gater says it is glad to be the medium by which this publicity can be broadcast. If by this service, the College should benefit, we, who have received the best of the best in journalistic training will feel that we have in some slight way repaid a portion of the tremendous debt we owe to the student body and the faculty of San Francisco State College.

WITH THE CAST

By EARL ANDERSON

Katherine Cornell opened last Monday night at the Curran in "The Doctor's Dilemma," before a capacity audience. The play, one of the popular Shaw works, was revived by the lady last spring in New York, and the San Francisco engagements marks the end of a short tour of the country.

As always, Miss Cornell is offering great theater—the play is beautifully set by Donald Oenslager, and exquisitely costumed by Motley (responsible for the "Romeo and Juliet" costumes.) The cast with which the striking star has surrounded herself is first-rate. Bramwell Fletcher, as the unmoral artist husband delivers a superb performance, particularly in his excellently played death scene.

Colin Keith-Johnston, as the Doctor with the dilemma, is a suitable match for the star throughout. The opening scene with Mr. Keith-Johnston, and the other doctors, is Shaw at his best, and one of the most excellently played parts of the play. The long wait here for Miss Cornell's entrance is occupied by such great acting, and rapier-like wit on Shaw's part that we don't really mind.

Those who don't care so much for Shaw will say there is too much intrusion on his part in the play, and not enough of Miss Cornell. That may be explained as due to the fact that the play is not a star vehicle, although Katherine Cornell is always the dominant figure. Her acting is, as ever, marked by that flawless and superb technique which has made her the stage's First Lady.

The supporting cast, Ralph Forbes, Clarence, Derwent, Cecil Humphreys, Barry Jones, and Whitford Kane represent various medical points of view, voicing and playing them with a deft touch. Through the mouths of other characters, the redoubtable author voices other opinions, so that as we leave, we have a pretty clear idea on how the great man stands on quite a few issues.

However, the most interesting part of the evening is that part offered by Miss Cornell's brilliant playing and it is Cornell we remember most after the lights have been dimmed, and the curtain gone down.

S. F. State Becomes Rendezvous of Bay Region High School Graduates

Do College Degrees Pay Dividends?

They Do — As Revealed by 'Who's Who' Statistics

By D. W. SIMONSON

Almost everyone realizes today that there are cultural values in a college education which are more important to the individual and to the nation than dollars and cents income or any other measurable attribute of success. There are, however, several yardsticks by which one may measure the value of education.

One of the most nearly objective (and therefore reliable) criteria is found in the comparative number of college men and women of the total listed in Who's Who in America. Four studies of the percentage of collegians, both graduates (75 per cent of total) and non-graduates, of all names in Who's Who, have been made by the editors. These tabulations (summarized below) show two conclusions:

- (1) A preponderance of "big-name" people have attended college.
- (2) The percentage has shown a marked tendency to increase.

Percentage of Collegians in
Year	Who's Who Total Names	Pct. of Collegians
1900-1910	8,602-17,546	69-70%
1916-1917	21,922	72.88%
1922-1923	22,075	77.36%
1934-1936	29,389	86.56%

The latest figures available (1934-1935) are made vivid in a chart by the editors of Who's Who:

THE VALUE OF EDUCATION

Total Number of Persons Furnishing Educational Data, 29,389.....100%

Educated in High Schools, Business Colleges, etc., 1,842.....6.27%

Educated in Common or Public Schools, 2,110.....7.17%

Attended College but not Graduated, 3,476.....11.83%

Master's Degree 4,885.....16.63%

Doctor's Degree, 7,859.....26.74%

Bachelor's Degree, 9,217.....31.36%

College Graduates, 21,961.....74.73%

Number of Collegians, 25,437.....86.56%

Summing up, the editors point out that "Practically 75 out of each 100 persons whose life-sketches appear in the book are college graduates and 86 out of each 100 attended college."

The facts above include the business world as well as the learned professions, for "Trade, Industry and Business" comprises the largest group in Who's Who, with 5,725 names in 1934-1935.

"The conclusion that education pays is inescapable," editors say.

(Data for the above is taken from Who's Who in America, 1940-1941 edition, Introduction, pp. 2870-2871.)

Pastoral Scene

A Short Story

By JACK CONWAY

IT was spring, and overhead two fleecy white clouds played tag with each other in the blue. The man sat quietly against a tree, his eyes fixed on a perky robin who swung on a spring of white birch above him.

Beside him lay his pack, which had given him so many exhausted hours; trading across borders, participating in war games, parades and festivities, all of them with that fifty pounds of equipment slung on his back. A fly crawled lazily over the brown canvas, then stopped, while the hot sun poured its warmth over the two figures.

A while ago, the man had been thinking about his home. The cool of a spring morning, when birds piped in the aspens, and the wet mud bore tracks of small animals. Harvest time, with the golden wheat rippling like a cloak in the wind; the midwestern smell of the dark interior of the barn, with the steam of the horses' bodies rising wraith-like into the air. His dog, with the one large spot of brown on his hind leg, and his funny limp, where that possum had got him years before. Mostly, the man had thought of his mother, as she had looked that last time when she waved goodbye to the doorway.

All these thoughts had come back to the soldier for a time, as he sat there in the gently waving grass of that foreign field, and he had sighed, glancing at the stock of his Mauser, black in the shadows of the two birches. Such thoughts, also, had often occupied the mind of the man who rose silently, a short time later, from the grass a hundred yards away. His thoughts at the moment, though, had been slightly different, and he had taken careful aim.

Now, the fly hopped from the canvas pack onto the chest of the man, thence to his face. As the recumbent figure didn't move, the fly crawled on, and in time it reached the blue-edged bullet hole in the man's forehead. Overhead, the two clouds still played tag with each other, and the perky robin still swung from the sprig of white birch.

Gathered On The Run: The Ex. Board was bemoaning the lack of funds the other night in the student body exchange. Here is our world-shaking solution. We own, run, maintain a print shop, don't we? Yes, we do (what I've just done is answer my own question). Soooooo, why not commission Jack Spann, print shop foreman, to turn out a few hundred thousand dollars worth of green stuff. Sure, why not? Let's print our own... And one of the girls in the Bib 'n' Tucker act in the Chickens' Ball was dubbed, by her sisters, the Mills College girl wow... Football—it stinks! Stanford massacres Santa Clara; Santa Clara puts it to California: California laces Stanford. Football—it stinks!... Transpose a few, a very few notes in the popular tune, YES INDEED, and you come out with that old favorite, SHE'LL BE COMIN' AROUND THE MOUNTAIN, Or vice-versa, yes indeed... And, speaking of transpositions, have you noticed the correlation between I KNOW WHY and the overture to MOUSSORGSKY'S FIFTH SYMPHONY (which, by the way, hasn't been written yet as Moussorgsky has been suffering for some years from a headache)... Many poorly-informed members of the ignoramus have written in asking about our stand on the pertinent topic, "Are the Denizens of North Beach Using Gaters to Wrap Up Fish?" Our reaction may be summed up in fifteen words: No, the fish are using the Gaters to wrap up the denizens of North Beach... More about goats' eggs

Students From Many Local and Distant High Schools Tell Why They Chose San Francisco State College For Higher Degrees, and Why They Still Like It

Friendly Attitude

"Some friends told me about the Music Department. They recommended the faculty, not only of the music courses, but the faculty in general. The instructors and professors are well trained and able to pass their training on to the students... The college is well located in the heart of the city. Many street car lines run by the campus, providing good transportation."

—John Giannopoulos, Lowell, '41.

"A friend told me State was a very friendly college, and that the students were very considerate of new students... All of the professors seem to take an interest in each student."

—Dorothy Carr, Yuba City, '41.

"Some students from this college raved about the wonderful times here and the 'swell' students."

—Florence Martin, University, '41 (Oakland).

Small Classes

"I like the small classes at State because it is possible to bring up questions as they arise and have them clarified on the spot... The individual really has an opportunity to get close to his instructors and his subjects."

—Robert C. Elsasser, Fremont, (Oakland).

"My aunt told me that she and all principals she knew would rather have a teacher who had earned a credential at S. F. State than any other... I also found that upon graduation, most of the credential students have jobs within a very short time."

—Ruth Fredrickson, Sequoia, '41 (Redwood City).

"I liked the variety of courses listed... The school was interested in where you lived. It made me feel that S. F. State was interested in me as an individual."

—Virginia Ross, Santa Rosa, '39.

"I find that in a small college there is more chance for participation in friendlier and smaller curricular and extra-curricular activities."

—Margery Clarke, Willits, '39.

—Elmora Wilcox, Castlemont, '41.

Metropolitan Advantages

"Transportation to San Francisco is quite convenient... One is in a metropolitan center where things are happening. One has marvelous opportunities to see and take part in all kinds of activities, such as concerts, plays, art exhibitions."

—La Rae Karnes, Burlingame, '40.

"I watched my sister develop a marvelous personality in the four years she attended this college. Today she is a poised young woman with a likable character and she has confidence in herself."

—Patricia Spaulding, Lowell, '41.

"This college offers an excellent art course... I have learned a great deal about art and other subjects in the short time that I have been attending... My friends and I ride over and back on the buses each day and we have a wonderful time."

—Jeanne Agnew, Richmond Union, '40.

Democratic Spirit

"In a college like San Francisco State the prejudices and class distinctions are practically unknown. We can look at other people with an impartial and uncolored attitude. State is doing its part in educating people so that they will be able to participate in the creation of a still better democracy—like the democracy that exists at State."

—George Sugihara, Richmond Union, '40.

"A friend of mine told me about State and its wonderful understanding faculty... and I do like to see friendship between faculty and students."

—Harriet McCarty, Berkeley, '38.

"State has done a lot for me. I've met new friends, renewed old acquaintances, and felt that I belonged. All who come to State are very friendly."

—Winther Andersen, Balboa, '40.

Junior Prom... Snoopin' Around... Ray Lang

THERE are a lot of guys around this place we call State who seem to think that this column could be somewhat improved, both in content, style, humor, etc.

Always open to suggestions, the department conducted an informal investigation, questioned such people as Al Maybe, yell-leader. Said Al: "Gee, for a gossip column you sure miss an awful lot of stuff that's going on around here... you don't seem to get around very much."

Also questioned was Vi Silva, junior class treasurer. Said the demure Miss Silva: "Sure, you ought to have lots more names and gossip in the column. I'd give you some news, but the only kind of gossip I know isn't fit to print."

Somewhat abashed by such frank criticism, this department resolved it was high time that it got around, accordingly invested the sum of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50), went to Dan Halstead's Junior Prom at the Berkeley Country Club prepared to see all sorts of interesting things going on.

But what was there to see? A bunch of females with flowers stuck in their hair and behind their dainty little ears, dancing with a bunch of guys who were all dolled up special for the occasion. And outside of that there wasn't anything exciting except the fact that some people were chagrined to find the little man behind the bar was only serving fruit punch and cokes.

Official reports from secret agent V-12, operating at the Junior Prom, however brought out the following facts:

SEEN...

(1) Leaving the Chimes in downtown Oakland about three in the a. m.—George Youngdale and Bob Cumming with ex-Staters Doris Barber and Marg. Newcomb...

(2) Barguing out of the 365 Club in San Francisco about the same time... Bob Buckley with effervescent Marianne Honan...

(3) Gobboling some post-dance, pre-breakfast nourishment... Jack Freeman, Adrienne Tourney, Bill McKay, and Marilyn Lewis at an eating rendezvous way out on East 14th street in Oakland.

ALSO SCENE...

Outstanding at the Prom were: (1) The Haran family, Jack and Jim... led the conga with a vengeance, swinging the pipe-like Haran arms and legs in unrestrained rhythm as Jack Flemer and Barbara Higbe swung in right behind... (2) Petronella Hepzibah Mortig... a striking thing in some sort of red creation... enough to make weak hearts falter and strong hearts turn somersaults...

(3) Bernice Coakley's gown... sort of an off-white in color... with the skirt arranged in tiers... giving a very bustle-like effect.

PEOPLE...

Somebody was wondering the other day how many high schools from around the Bay Region were represented here at State. No actual statistics are immediately available, but a quick survey about the campus brought out the fact that practically every Bay Region prep school has contributed outstanding individuals of one sort or another to social, athletic, and scholastic fields here at State.

From Washington came frosh prexy and treasurer Lew Posich and Art Blum... from St. Ignatius, Jack Haran, above-mentioned La Conga artist... from Sacred Heart, star baseballer Ed Patrick... Bib 'n' Tucker's Jacqueline Block was vice-president of the student body at Poly High... Barbara King and Barbara Gloisten, both freshmen co-eds, are from Presentation Academy in San Francisco.

The football playing Gomes brothers, Ken and Leroy, hail from Mt. Diablo High across the bay... Pete Perry, formerly the pride of San Leandro High School, was a rugged guard on the Gater's not-so-rugged football squad this season. Freshman magician Stan Lerche hails from Union High in Oakland.

A well known character about campus, Fred Tarp, used to learn his lessons at Alameda High, while basketball and football George Lorbeer comes from Piedmont...

Lowell High claims probably the largest number of State students. Hailing from the Hayes Street institution are Marion Gorman, Alyce Groth, the Keller boys, Hal, Bob and Norm, Pat Spaulding, griddler Bruce Bonner, and Jean MacCallum... from Galileo came soccer captain John Finn... from Balboa Pat Lundberg and yell-leader Ivor Callaway... from Mission came Newman Club prexy Arnold Vezzani, and ex-yell-leader, general Harry of the campus, Mario Vasquez.

Student body prexy Jean Van Arsdale graduated from Commerce High a few years ago... Kenny Young, journalism big-wig, went to Castlemont High in Oakland, as did Jeanne Turney, and Block 5 man Neil Harriman... Blond, smiling griddler Fred Hinz attended San Mateo High down the Peninsula... and diminutive Dick Chin, tripple-threat for the Purple and Gold this season, hailed from Richmond High.

And so it goes... term after term the new students come in, representing prep schools from the entire Bay Region, some to study art, some music, some to be physical education teachers, some for liberal arts courses... the entire group, formerly separate units, competing against one another, now gathered together under the roof that is San Francisco State College.

Shinkickers Tie U.C.L.A., Meet San Jose State Next

By LUIGI REPETTO

LOS ANGELES.—A train-weary crew of San Francisco State College soccer lads was held to a 3-3 tie last Saturday by a hard fighting and well-coached aggregation from the University of California at Los Angeles on the Bruins' home grounds.

Coach Jerry Kenney's lads started the game under familiar and favorable conditions when a slight precipitation from Jupiter Pluvius mired up the field. (In San Francisco this would mean rain.)

Striking swiftly in the first eight minutes, the Uclans, led by Gordon Fifer, center-forward, who scored the goal, had the State lads perspiring freely with a 1-0 lead at half time. During the second quarter the Gaters made repeated drives to the Bruins' den but brilliant work on the part of goalie Fergus Tobin, formerly of Galileo High in San Francisco, smothered all scoring attempts.

Another tally was added to UCLA's score in the third period on a goal scored by Bernie Ramos, right wing.

MORENA SCORES

It was Manny Morena who started the Tide scoring spree late in the third period. Morena's goal was followed by a free kick by Werner Steinbach who received an assist on the play because the ball was tipped into the promised land by clever headwork on the part of John Petersen, State's right wing.

With the score tied, 2-2, State forged into the lead late in the fourth quarter on a clever bit of ball handling by Archie Steinbach, who set up a pass to Petersen, who rapidly smacked it past Tobin for the leading goal.

Then came the play that blasted victory from the hands of the Tide. With two minutes left to go, Gene Naumoff, fullback, missed a kick which would have cleared the ball into Bruin territory. The ball was pounced upon by Johnnie Somerville, who blasted one at Gridley Dorr, State's goalie. In a valiant effort to stop the ball, Arnold Vezzani got his hand tangled up with the pill and a penalty kick from twelve feet out was given to the Bruins. Somerville, taking plenty of time, slapped the ball past Dorr for the tying goal.

Gaters Have Fair Football Season

Although State's fighting football eleven had only two wins for the current season, they succeeded in taking the Dan Farmer Trophy away from Chico State, the Gater traditional rival in the final game. Following is a resume for the season:

STATE 6, S. F. J. C. 7.—The Rams scored in the second quarter and Terzian, their ace backfield man, converted the point which was to ultimately decide the game. The Gaters scored in the fourth quarter when Chin passed to Lorbeer for the touchdown.

STATE 2, HUMBOLDT STATE 14. The Lumberjacks opened the scoring in the second quarter when Lee passed to Iten for a touchdown. Lee converted. Again in the third quarter Lee passed to Longholm for a score. Lee added the 14th point. State scored in the fourth period when Longholm fumbled in the end zone and fell on it for a safety.

STATE 0, MATHER FIELD 0. Most of this game was played in Mather territory, but State lacked the punch for a touchdown. State rooters were given a thrill when Dick Chin's long pass into the end zone just sailed through Ray Lang's outstretched arms.

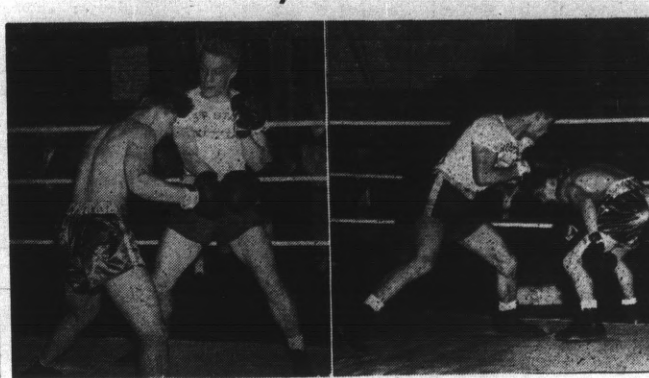

STATE 0, SAN MATEO J. C. 28. The gory details of this game will not be told. Undeclared, untied and unscored upon, San Mateo overpowered the Golden Tide.

STATE 13, LA VERNE 7.—The Gaters struck quickly in an attempt to win their first game. Gridley Dorr took a lateral from Bill Horner early in the first quarter and raced over for a score. Gomes missed the extra point. The Tide relaxed in the third quarter and La Verne marched for a touchdown. The Leopards converted and led 7 to 6. State received the kickoff and moved quickly for a touchdown. Bill Horner circled end for the last nine yards. Bob Stine passed to Ray Lang for the 13th point and State's first victory was a reality.

STATE 0, CAL POLY 14.—The Mustangs scored in the first and fourth periods on passes. Soroka converted twice and Cal Poly had 14 points. State outplayed the Mustangs and was near pyrrhic victory, but it was not their day and they could not score.

STATE 12, CHICO STATE 7.—After holding Chico on the one-yard line in the first quarter, the Gaters grabbed the lead in the second quarter when Gridley Dorr intercepted a pass in the flat and raced 50 yards to a touchdown. The conversion attempt failed. Chico State marched to a touchdown in the third period. The Wildcats converted and led 7 to 6 until late in the fourth quarter. Pete Miranda blocked a Chico punt and Lorbeer recovered on the Chico 13. The Gaters pushed over the touchdown with Werner Steinbach plunging from the one yard line. Gomes missed the conversion, but it did not matter as State kept Chico deep in her own territory until the final gun.

Intramural Boxing and Wrestling In Finals; All-Star Team Announced

Currently being run off in the will meet the winner of this match in the finals. Unlimiteds. Kenny Gomes meets Pete Miranda in the finals.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL. Intramural basketball is now entering into the early stages of the second round and inside of one more week the championship matches will be held. Because of the great amount of games played, we are unable to bring you play by play reports of the affair.

ALL-STAR FOOTBALLERS. Although intramural football for 1941 is a thing of the past, we here present two All-Star touch football teams composed of the stellar material we saw perform on the upper and lower fields. And so without further ado, here are our prize picks (please notice there are no first or second strings):

Among the other lads whom we saw cavorting and whose actions pleased us were: Aimie Hourcade, Rock Forbes, Ted Shippey, Carl Magaran, Norbert Shields, John Pichotto, George Drolette, Lew Posich, Bill Callas, Norm Keller, Leo Bonicalzi, Manny Morena, Mickey Allen, Ed Walsh, "Bud" Tonelli, Neil Abbott, Wally Lozen-ski, Curt Buttles, Jim Haran and a host of others who gave their all to make this year's Intramural touch football tournament a grand success.

INTRAMURAL WRESTLING. 136 lbs. Wong vs. John Colclough in the finals. 145 lbs. Carolan vs. Al Vladimiroff in the finals. 156 lbs. Bruce Bonner meets Keller in the finals. 165 lbs. Gordon Mailloux vs. Dave du Boise in the finals. 175 lbs. Fred Hinz met Segurson on Nov. 27. Werner Steinbach

Unlimiteds. Pete Miranda will meet Ray Lang in the finals.

WOMEN SPLASH. An invitation to participate in the National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming meet, held annually by colleges and universities throughout the United States, has been tendered State's women athletes. It was announced recently by Louise Buchzik, swimming manager.

A swimming playday will be held on January 9 for all women swimmers; watch for posters, further announcements, and news in the Gater.

New Weaknesses Revealed Despite Squad's Triumph; Fouls Mar Game

State followers of the fake and dribble had their initial glimpse of Coach Dan Farmer's brand new, shiny, 1942 basketball quintet last Saturday night in the women's gym.

Although the game culminated in a 49 to 39 win for the Blue and Gold over the Y. M. C. A., Staters were just a bit skeptical as to the coming chances of their casaba handlers.

TEAM LOOKS RAGGED

Whether it was first game jitters, whether lack of practice, whether just an off night, or whether it was all of them together, we can't say, but this we do know—the Y. M. C. A., a decidedly inferior club (which fact explains Dan Farmer's playing his second squad at least one-half the game), scored entirely too frequently off State's first five.

Jim Keating, guard, christened the game with a foul shot. Then followed another foul and three quick buckets by the "Y" to put them ahead at 7 to 1.

STATE LEADS

That, however, was the first, last and only time of the evening that the boys from Golden Gate avenue led the Alligators. For torpedoing the hoop for ten markers in fast succession, were Keller, center, with four, and the two midget forwards, Fanelle and McCarty, with four and two, respectively, to take a lead which was never relinquished for the remainder of the brawl.

The half ended with big Dan's boys showing the way at 22 to 25.

The Red and White made their next bid for victory late in the third quarter, when they knotted the score at 30 even. But again six retaliating points by Lorbeer and Gustafson dispelled the "Y" threat.

Big Dan not only had the best team on the court last Friday night, but the dirtiest also. Keating, Murray, Gustafson, Polidari—all of them went out of the game on fouls.

Had but one more dirty lad fouled out State would have had the ignominious title of being the only school to lose an entire team on fouls.

We've yet to see that one in Ripley's.

Another Victory Wednesday Nite From East Bay Club

Running their opponents into the floorboards by an exceptionally smooth working fast break, San Francisco State's high flying basketball quintet pushed over a 44-38 win over the Robertos' Club last Wednesday night in the State gym.

The blue and white clad club team scored first when Rudy Stark sunk one from the middle court. This lead was quickly eradicated when Emil Fanelle and Norman Keller put in a free throw apiece, and then Keller scored a field goal to give State the lead, which never was lost.

With Coach Dan Farmer giving his first string a rest, the second stringers toyed with the Robertos and the half ended with State holding a 17-14 lead.

Diminutive Tom McCarty opened the Tide's scoring spree in the second half by plunking a free throw and field goal. Buckets by Fanelle, McCarty, Gustafson and Keller rained into the basket to give the Purple and Gold a 40-17 lead before the second stringers, led by Larry Sullivan and Jim Witt, took over.

Wednesday night's win makes it two in a row for the casaba experts from the Haight street hills. It is noteworthy that although State has an exceptionally good first-string team, the reserves are terribly weak.

LINES

Well, this is quite an issue, as far as State is concerned, and even though few people realize it. Not only is it to be distributed around our sprawling campus, to eager and waiting students, but it will see many other schools and offices.

Yes, this issue is to be an anniversary issue of good will, one which will extol the virtues and attractive features of our institution, and calculated to bring droves of newcomers to enroll here.

Let it be known that the sports side of State is not to be overlooked. Ten years ago this place was merely a little teachers' college on Hermann street, a firetrap with an attendance of many women and practically no men.

Now, the difference is obvious. Today we are a little teachers' college on Hermann street, a firetrap with an attendance of many women and some males.

Notice that I do not say men; because the dearth of them in this college is pitiful. Sure, we have a football team, and a soccer squad (bless their hearts), and a basketball bunch, and a few other teams who endeavor to hold high the mantle of the Purple and Gold, but they are the faithful few.

There are now on this campus fellows who could help immeasurably the chances of any one of State's athletic groups. They are fellows who instead prefer to sit down to typewriters and kick hell, verbally, out of the guys who sweat each night on the field or in the gym. They are guys who would rather stroll around the grounds nonchalantly and laugh behind their hands at the efforts of the men around here.

They try to laugh it off, or try to alibi out of it, or feign injuries, or just plain say, "The hell with it," when approached about athletics. They say they think that it is all stupid.

I know what to call them.

Music Federation Will Sponsor Oratorio

The annual Christmas Oratorio will take place Tuesday night in the Baptist Church, with over four hundred voices combining with the symphonic band to bring State students the story of 'The Childhood of Christ', it was announced today by Gladys Underwood, secretary of the Music Department at State.

Featuring the work of Berlioz, the State A Capella Choir, Madrigal Singers, Men's Glee, Treble Clef and five sections of college chorus, this event promises to be a 'must' for Staters.

Augmenting the above groups will be the Symphonic Orchestra, directed by Dr. William E. Knuth.

STUDENTS FEATURED

"Since the oratorio has an operatic theme, with chorus and band performing together, I am sure that it will interest State students," Miss Underwood said further. "Among the featured singers will be Kathleen Smith, Charles Piper, William Jackson, Lawrence Sherrill and Winther Anderson."

Since the first of the term State's music department has been engaged in various activities, prominent among them being the American Youth series of national broadcasts, with San Francisco State being honored in an appearance during November.

During the broadcast listeners heard State's A Capella Choir, the Madrigals, the Choral Strings present a program of American music. One of the numbers was written by Wendell Oney, professor at State.

The band concert, given every term, was held on November 18, and was so well received that they went on a deputation trip to Lodi, Manteca, Tracy and other points.

POPULARITY INCREASES

Gradually increasing in popularity and excellence, San Francisco State's music department is representative of the college's rapid growth, making future events something to look forward to.

"San Francisco State's music department is built on activities, and the idea of everyone participating in an activity. Students here get practical training that makes them into good music teachers."

These optimistic words issued recently from the office of Gladys Underwood, secretary of the S. F. State music department. The professors and instructors here are of the best, and a very fine setup exists, she said.

Dr. William E. Knuth is head of the department, and his music education and the psychology of music. He has had published the Knuth Achievement Tests in Music, which are used all over the state.

College Library Boasts Varied Book Collection

"Perhaps some of you upper-class State students have been amused by the new skyscraper book shelves in the library. Paul Bunyan could reach the top shelf, but the librarians have to use especially built ladders. Now all library assistants have to pass a mountaineering test," thus commented a librarian of State College.

More seriously, she continued, it's the volumes' volume that does it. From July of 1940 through June of this year, 3,200 books, including bound magazines, were added to the San Francisco State College library collection. Since one foot of shelving will on an average hold eight books, the library literally grew 400 feet last year. The only way that it could grow was up, hence the new shelves. Last year's growth for the past five-year period has been 2,570 books.

Organization Activities Set Forth In Comprehensive Resume of Clubs

Among the many sororities, fraternities and honorary societies, the following hold a large representation of San Francisco State College students: International Club, Sigma Pi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, Athletic Council, Delta Sigma Nu and Alpha Chi Epsilon.

One of the more democratic groups on the campus is the International Relations Club. This semester, this organization under the leadership of President Libby Gratch, has presented numerous lectures and discussions on problems of the Orient and the Far East, and of the Negro. All students who are interested in international affairs are urged to attend the meetings of this club.

Sigma Pi Sigma, men's service fraternity, is noted mainly for the part it plays in intramural athletics and the Chickens' Ball. This year found the green shirted Sigmas forge out in front in intramural football and take the 1941 championship.

The year 1942 will see the Kappa Delta Pi members act as hosts for some of the leading educational people in the United States. All this will come about when the National Convocation of the national Kappa Delta Pi societies will be held in San Francisco. Plans are being formulated for the affair by President Maurice Ingelbright.

One of the most important factors in San Francisco State College athletics is the Athletic Council, which awards the block letters and decides the athletic policy of the college. At its first meeting of the year the council elected Alfred Gorla to the post of athletic manager of State College. This group met again on Thursday, November 27, 1941, at a meeting held in College Hall. At this convocation of the various physical education instructors and team managers it was decided to allow the soccer team 16 block awards this year. Another meeting was held on Thursday, December 4.

Delta Sigma Nu proved to be one of the most active organizations on the State campus this semester, with various dinner meetings and cake sales taking place. Publicity for this club was handled by Marjorie Smith, who did a good job of crashing the Gater columns.

Alpha Chi Epsilon, San Francisco State's honorary childhood society, proved to be an active organization with many dinners and teas being held in the Activities Room. The most noted affair of the semester for the club was the Halloween party given in the Activities Room, with President Alexander C. Roberts in attendance. The group also met for their annual fall tea at the home of Gertrude Egan.

Rally at Noon Today In Women's Gym

Giving State's outstanding soccer team a sendoff for its final game of the season with San Jose Saturday, members of the student body will gather in the Rally Bowl at noon today.

Organized by Yell-Leader Ivor Callaway and Rally Commissioner Norman Crane, the pep rally will also whip up enthusiasm for basketball season as well as honoring the soccer men.

TRADITIONS KEPT

Next fall it will be San Francisco State's turn to visit Humboldt State College for the annual play festival, which has been carried on between the two schools for the past nine years. State students usually enjoy themselves in the land of the giant redwoods and the Humboldt people like to see the sights in the big city.

Aside from the Humboldt excursion, Little Theater produces several other adult term plays before a paying audience.

Various classes in dramatics annually put on a series of one-act plays at noon before an outside audience, which offers a wonderful chance for experience to those interested in the theater.

CHICKENS' BALL

In the War Memorial Veterans' auditorium this year the annual "Chickens' Ball" was a crowning success. A capacity crowd filled the great theater and waited for the outcome. Judged by any standards, the Ball could only be called a success. This is the first State dramatic presentation to move off the campus and succeed.

Magazine, Yearbook to Be Published

"The Franciscan, San Francisco State's yearbook of college activities, is going to prove the best ever published here, if present planning works out," Bessie Haag, editor, stated today.

The annual has shown itself in the past to rank on a par with college and university memory books throughout the United States and it has received high awards every year.

Published once a year and containing the photographs of all graduating students and active campus undergraduates, the Franciscan is cherished by Staters as a valuable record of college.

JOURNALISTS WORKING

Editor Bessie Haag has a staff of 25 journalists preparing the book for publication. Also working on the annual are members of the Art Federation, who are responsible for the illustrations in the book.

"Pictures are now being taken of seniors and we will soon start photographing fraternities, classes, and individuals," Bessie said. "The original theme of the book this year should make it a treasured album of school memories."

FOG TO APPEAR

Meanwhile, Fog Magazine, campus humor publication, is being prepared by Editor Kenny Young for a big debut next semester. Although temporarily postponed because of a need for more funds and material, Fog will appear again in the Spring semester.

The Board of Publications, feeling that Young, John Thomas, business manager, and other staff members could be better used on the Golden Gater, college paper, decided to defer the publication of Fog until next semester.

Sensational Record In Placing of State Teacher Graduates Announced

Every qualified available candidate of San Francisco State who wished a teaching position in the last year has been placed, it was announced by the Placement Office today.

In the last five years almost every qualified candidate has received a job, but this is the first year that the entire group of available teachers has received positions.

Of interest is the placement of: William Abbey, Petaluma Junior High; Morley Carrothers, Livermore; Bernadette Cleary, Pittsburg; Beatrice Delaney, Bakersfield; Sylvia Guthertz, Walnut Grove; Kenneth Johnson, Sebastopol; Irwin Maguire, Lodi; Melvin Nymman, Salinas.

OUTSTANDING RECORD

The Placement Office last year received reports which stated that 95 per cent of former State students who were placed in teaching positions were average or outstanding in their work, and only 5 per cent were below average.

Miss Alma Downey, placement secretary, explains this report with the fact that the training program gives students unusual opportunities for teaching under supervision. She also attributes the report to the excellent academic preparation and the exceptional opportunities that the college offers in the way of extra curricular activities.

LIBERAL ARTS PLACEMENT

Figures show that more liberal arts students graduated this year than ever before, and a questionnaire sent to the 81 members of this group showed the following results: 26 did not answer, so presumably are working; 6 reported that they are with Uncle Sam's forces; 18 are back in school for further study; 5 are housewives, and are not seeking employment; 19 are employed; only 5 are still seeking positions.

Such positions as nursing, newspaper work, private teaching, drafting, social service and Red Cross are held by former liberal arts students.

TEACHERS IN DEMAND

Some 36 counties placed calls in the Placement Office for teachers. Students were also recommended for positions in Nevada, Idaho, Alaska and Honolulu.

These facts show that the teaching profession is sharing in the increased number of jobs available this year, and there is every indication that this new upturn will continue, according to the Placement secretary.

State Stepping Stone For Professors

An excellent curriculum is offered by San Francisco State to those students who plan to do graduate work at other universities, especially Stanford and California, stated Frank L. Fenton, associate professor of English.

High correlation exists between our courses and those of the universities in all of the fields, he continued. Because of this fine integration, liberal arts, medical, humanities and all other students who are not working for a teaching degree here, can take four years of work here and go on to graduate work leading to higher degrees with a well organized, full knowledge of background material. An advantage of this is that the student can receive his necessary training at State at a very low cost, Mr. Fenton stated.
